

Handwritten text, mostly illegible due to fading and bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text appears to be organized into several paragraphs or sections, possibly containing names, dates, or descriptive notes. Some words are faintly visible, such as "1860" and "1861".

