

PERMANENT MISSION OF JAPAN

TO THE UNITED NATIONS

NEW YORK

SC/21/222

The Permanent Mission of Japan to the United Nations presents its compliments to the Secretary-General of the United Nations and, with regard to the Note Verbale No. CML63/2020, has the honour to state Japan's position as follows.

Japan, as a State Party to the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (UNCLOS), rejects China's position that the "drawing of territorial sea baselines by China on relevant island groups and their adjacent waters is in accordance with general international law". UNCLOS sets forth the conditions for the application of baselines in a specific and exhaustive manner, whereas China has failed to respect relevant provisions. There is no room for a State Party to justify the application of baselines that do not satisfy the conditions stipulated under UNCLOS.

China mentioned the freedom of navigation in the Note Verbale No. CML63/2020. The freedom of navigation and overflight must be guaranteed in sea and airspace surrounding and above maritime features located at tide elevations that do not have territorial sea and territorial airspace of their own, as stated in the award of the South China Sea Arbitration dated 12 July 2016, which is final and binding. China has asserted that it has sovereignty in sea and airspace surrounding and above those maritime features located below tide elevations. As a matter of fact, China prevents the overflight of Japanese aircraft in the airspace surrounding Mischief Reef and attempts to restrict the freedom of overflight in the South China Sea.

The Permanent Mission of Japan to the United Nations has the honour to request that this Note Verbale be circulated by the Secretary-General of the United Nations among all States Parties to UNCLOS and other concerned Member States.

The Permanent Mission of Japan to the United Nations avails itself of this opportunity to reiterate to the Secretary-General of the United Nations its highest consideration.

19th January 2014

H.E. Mr. António Guterres
Secretary-General
United Nations
New York
