before you on the topic of Guam and its continuing quest for decolonization. I also want to thank the government and people of Grenada for hosting us on their beautiful island.

In my statements today, I want to provide updates to various forms of US federal interference in Guam, that has created a great deal of confusion and anxiety within the community around the issues of political status change.

	The importance o	of decolonization is h	pecoming more and m	ore acute. The US	military has
