

Protection of the Environment in Relation to Armed Conflict A First Evaluation of the ILC's Draft Principles

Wednesday, 6 November 2019
Conference Room 8, UN Headquarter, New York City
RSVP by Thursday, 31 October at seminar registration

Jointly organized by the Mission of Finland and the University of Hamburg, in collaboration with Lund University and the Environmental Peacebuilding Association

And sponsored by the Permanent Missions of Denmark, Iceland, Norway and Sweden

During its 71st session this summer, the UN International Law Commission has provisionally adopted 28 draft principles in a first reading addressing the pre-, during and post-conflict phase concerning environmental protection. The States in the Sixth Committee will have the opportunity to comment on the draft principles during its 74th session.

The seminar provides a forum for those interested in the topic

The ILC Special Rapporteur for the topic, Marja Lehto, addresses the work of the ILC as well as the reaction of States in the 6th Committee right in the aftermath of the Sixth Committee's session. Practitioners share their experiences from the field and relate them to the draft principles. Scholars

