

t

Chairperson

While we three countries have witnessed the growth of accessibility of publications to researchers, academics, international law practitioners, officials and the general public, we recognize that traditional print-based access must be preserved as an alternative available on request.