

PBC ANNUAL SESSION - 2014

23 June 2014

Concept paper

"Sustainable support for peacebuilding: the domestic and international aspects"

Effective and sustainable systems for resource mobilization are a key element of the consolidation of peace in countries emerging from conflict. The session will examine the financial and human capital aspects of resource mobilization as a comprehensive concept and a core mandate of the PBC. Resource mobilization also needs to be addressed both in its national and international components, with due consideration for the principle of national ownership and the fundamental objective of providing sustainable support to improve the lives of affected populations.

The proposed theme matches the criteria set out in the agreed modalities for convening the annual session (see annex of A/68/729 - S/2014/67), while also reflecting the multidimensional nature of peacebuilding and having the potential to attract broader interest from among countries

Sub-theme 1: Mobilization of international and domestic resources and revenue generation

Effective mechanisms for generating domestic revenues and mobilizing internal resources are crucial for promoting development, as well as ensuring greater national ownership and sustainability of peacebuilding efforts. International engagement and support is often critic
