

INTERVENTION OF THE INTERNATIONAL CABLE PROTECTION COMMITTEE (ICPC) AT THE MARCH 17, 2020 CO FACILITATORS ONLINE BRIEFING WITH STAKEHOLDERS ON THE ZERO DRAFT OF THE 2020 UN OCEAN CONFERENCE DECLARATION

Thank you very much for selecting the International Cable Protection Committee (ICPC) to make an intervention today. This is Alice Colarossi, calling in from New York.

The ICPC welcomes and fully supports the language of the zero draft of the declaration. We would like to emphasize one often forgotten key role of the ocean, which the ICPC would like to see highlighted in paragraph 3 of the zero draft: that the ocean also serves to "facilitate international communication," as noted in the Preamble to the United Nations Law of ble ors of most of the world's sul

s, as well as the cable ships that lay and maintain them e body of scientific publications, submarine cables are gn subsea infrastructure that carries, through optical s transoceanic phone, internet and data traffic.

oles are a sustainable use of the ocean, consistent with DG 9 and its target 9.C could not be achieved. Target y increase access to information and communications provide universal and affordable access to the Internet ries by 2020." The case of submarine cable illustrates 3 9 and SDG 14, and could be addressed as a concrete example in the context of the 2020 United Nations Ocean Conference.

We are grateful for the opportunity to speak today, and we look forward to
