

United Nations Secretary-General's Youth Advisory Group on Climate Change

Selection criteria for second cohort: 2023-24

The Secretary-General's Youth Advisory Group on Climate Change provides the Secretary-General with practical and outcome-focused advice, diverse youth perspectives and concrete recommendations, with a clear focus on accelerating the implementation of his Climate Action agenda.

Convened under the auspices of the UN's first-Development Goals.

The next cohort of the Youth Advisory Group will serve for a period of two years (2023-2024). The group will be selected and appointed by the Secretary-General from a pool of candidates nominated by respected youth- and climate-focused non-governmental and civil society organizations around the world.

The Group will be selected so as to reflect a wide diversity of voices from all regions of the world, and an inclusive range of life experiences, perspectives, and areas of expertise. However, as it is not possible for a seven-member group to reflect the full diversity of the global youth climate movement, the Group will be expected to consult widely across global youth networks and include perspectives from outside

- Member, founder, or leader of a youth led climate organization or programme at the global, regional level;

- Proven ability to collaborate with diverse stakeholders across the global youth climate movement;
  - Strong analytic and communication skills;
  - Familiarity with existing conventions, policy instruments, and/or other intergovernmental processes on climate change;
  - Ability to leave organizational and country affiliations aside and serve in an individual capacity.
